DAILY DEMOCRAT

To a Child, Embracing its Mother.

BY T. HOOD.

Love thy mother, little one!
Kiss and clasp her neck again—
Hereafter she may have a son Will kiss and clasp her neck in vain.

Love thy mother, little one!

Gaze upon her living eyes,
And mirror back her love for thee—
Hereafter thou mayst shudder sighs To meet them when they cannot see,—

—Gaze upon her living eyes!

Press her lips the while they glow—
With love that they have often told;

Hereafter thou mayst press in woe,

And kiss her till thine own are cold—

Press her lips the while they glow.

O, revere her raven hair,

Although it is not silvery grey,

Too early, death, led on by care,

May snatch, save one dear look, away,

O, revere her raven hair!

Pray for her, at eve and morn,

That heaven may long the stroke defer,

For thou may'st live the hour forlorn

When thou wilt die to ask the water,

Pray for her, at eve and morn!

This distinction between liking and loving was well made by a little girl, six years old. She was eating something at breakfast which she seemed to relish very much.

"Do you love it?" asked her aunt.

"No," replied the child, with a look of disgust; "I like it. If I loved it, I should kiss it."

"Mind your eye," said the thread
said to the needle.

"Permit me to introduce myself,"
as the knife said to the oyster.

"I can't bear you," said the sea
said to a leaky ship.

"Hold your jaw, as, the man said when his head was in the lion's mouth."

"You will break my heart," said
the oak said to the hatchet.

The company smiled at the rejoinder and the gentleman took her at her word.

BUZY DAMING.—It is reported that the miners in New Caledonia are actively engaged in daming (damming) the rivers. Such appears to be the vocation of all who have returned from those regions, so far as we can learn.— Sonoma County Journal.

WASN'T I THERE TOO.—At a recent meeting in this State, a lad presented himself at the poll to claim the benefit of the elective franchise.

Feeling a deep interest in a favorite candidate, the father, who was evidently opposed to the boy's preference, stood at the ballot box, and challenged his right to vote, on the ground of his not being of age. The young man declared that he was twenty-one years old, that he knew it, and that he insisted upon his right.

The father becoming indignant, and wishing, as the saying is, to "bluff" him off before the judge, said:—

"Now, Bob, will you stand up there and contradict me? I don't know how old you are? Wasn't I there?"

Bob looked his contempt for the old man's speech, as he hastily replied.

"Thunderation!" s'pose you was, wasn't I there too?"

This settled the sire, and went the son's vote.

LADIES' FAVORITES.—There is too much truth in the following remarks of Addison:

I have found that the men who are really the most fond of ladies—who cherish for them the kindest respect—are seldom the most popular with the sex. Men of great assurance—whose tongues are lightly hung—who make words supply the place of ideas, and place compliments in the room of sentiment—are their favorites. A due respect for woman leads to a respectful action towards them and respect is mistaken by them for neglect or want of love!

FIRST NAVAL GUN OF THE REVOLU-TION.—At Marietta, Ohio, repose the remains of almost all those noble men who planted New England civilization at the mouth of the Muquingum.—

Among the monuments that speak of the olden time, the traveller will find one inscribed as follows:

"COMMODORE WHIPPLE,
who fired the first gun of the Revolution."

A woman should be amiable, benign, charitable, domestic, economical, forgiving, generous, hospitable, industrious, judicious, kind, loving, modest, neat, obedient, pleasant, quiet, reflective, sober, tender, urbane, virtuous, exemplary, yielding and zealous.

A steward wrote to a bookseller in London for some books to fit up his master's library in the following terms:—"In the first place I want six feet of theology, the same quantity of metaphysics, and a yard of old civil law in folio."

It is just as sensible a move to undertake to get married without courting, as to attempt to succeed in business without advertising.

A minor writing from Frazer River says:—"Frazer River is hell, Expressive, very."

The individual who was accidentially injured by the discharge of his gun, is still very low.

A true picture of despair, is a pig rearing through a hole in the fence to get a cabbage that is only a few inches beyond his reach.

What is styled timidity, is probably nothing but the fear of showing too little merit.

"Cuff, why didn't you kick that dog?"

"What am I to do of kicking every cow that snarls at you? Don't you know that dog is the way what he wants you to bring him into notice?"

"A Chinese boy, who is learning English, came across the passage in his Testament, 'We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced,' and rendered it thus: 'We have toot toot to you, what's the matter you no cum?'

"It is stated upon the authority of those who have heard it, that a cat, when her tail is pinched between a door and post, utters the vowels a, e, i, o, u, with great distinctness. If the injury is prolonged she gives w and y also."

"Boy, how did you manage to get such a big string of fish?" "I hooked them, sir."

"There is a man out West who laborers under the delusion that 'Hon.' placed before a man's name stands for 'honest.'

"Many of us are led by our vices, but a great many more of us follow them without any leading at all."

"A shrewd little fellow, who had just begun to read Latin, astonished his maiden instructor who was fast approaching a certain age, by the following translation: 'Vir, gin, a trap; Virgin, a man trap!'

"Mind your eye," said the thread
said to the needle.

"Permit me to introduce myself,"
as the knife said to the oyster.

"I can't bear you," said the sea
said to a leaky ship.

"Hold your jaw, as, the man
said when his head was in the lion's mouth."

"You will break my heart," said
the oak said to the hatchet.

said to the needle.
